LONDON, Sept. 17. (U.P.)—If I am to return to a land of slaughter, where for almost 21 years I lived cheek to cheek with the Countess of Madrid, I shall not be able to do so without the knowledge of the Spanish civil war. One of my close friends and one of the government firing squad when finally I located his wife I hardly recognized it.

THE DYSPEPTIC

Dyspepsia is indigestion and it has one effect—waddens the whole existence of the victim. Dyspepsia results from various causes—but the principal one is overeating and eating too fast. The three meal-a-day habit which is sufficient for the laboring man is, or heavy a regimen for the sedentary worker. The result is that his system is filled with more food than he can assimilate. His eating which has become a habit with many persons and hard pressed workers is another cause of the physical distress.

SPAIN'S LOYAL FACTIONS FIGHT

Military Uprising Against Anarchists Reported in Government-Held Catalonia.

(Copyright, 1938, Associated Press.)

Andorra dispatches reaching France today reported a military uprising against Anarchists in the government-controlled Seo De Urgel section of Catalonia.

The troops in the area were reported attempting to purge the district of all Anarchists.

Seo De Urgel lies just south of the tiny republic of Andorra.

Meanwhile, a swift fleet of Fascist speedboats, armed with machine guns, cut the last means of communication with the outside world from the northern Spanish coast, where Basque Nationalists set up a virtually autonomous government to overthrow Anarchist leaders.

Bilbao Harbor Closed

The harbor of Bilbao apparently was closed by mines which the Fascists laid to prevent government ships from leaving the harbor, and the speedboats were patrolling the waters outside the mine limit.

Anarchists were ousted from all government posts in the Socialist-dominated territory along the northern coast, diplomatic reports reaching France asserted.

Basque officials were installed in the majority of positions.

Basques and Anarchists differed over military strategy in the defense of San Sebastian before the attacking Fascists occupied the city Sunday.

Will Fight to End

Anarchists asserted they would defend the revolt community to the end while the Basques, maintaining the government's defense lines, sought to protect the city from destruction. Fascist commanders blamed the Anarchists for the devastation of the city of Irun, occupied earlier.

Consular officials in the beleaguered territory declared dismissal of the Anarchists set off public demonstrations of rejoicing.

The government defenders spread 40,000 millimeters along a new battle line running from Orto, 10 miles west of San Sebastian, to Regil, 10 miles south.

New guns and ammunition were distributed to the Socialist soldiers after the arrival of a Scandinavian freighter from Bilbao. The war equipment was reported by informed sources to have been shipped from Czechoslovakia by way of Hamburg, Germany.

Socialists Rip Fascist Ranks

Copyleft, 1938, Associated Press. MADRID, Sept. 16.—Socialist warriors gouged a mile-deep hole in the ranks of Fascist invaders in the Santa Olalla sector of central Spain, the government reported officially today.

The government troops, fighting to prevent an insurgent march on Toledo 24 miles behind them, forced their way through the Fascist lines in a rain of machine gun and rifle bullets.

Socialist advance patrols held the newly gained positions until reinforcements arrived from the main militia columns and consolidated the government victory, the war ministry asserted.

The official report also claimed fresh triumphs in Cordoba province near Montoro where fighting militia were declared to have "punished" severely insurgent forces attempting to advance northward.

The enemy, the report said, was forced to retreat with heavy losses.

DAM PROJECT FUNDS PROMISED BY KNOX

Candidate Tells Washington Voters Landon Would Continue Work If Feasible.

By The Associated Press. ABOARD KNOX CAMPAIGN TRAIN IN NORTHWEST, Sept. 16.—Col. Frank Knox swung his Washington campaign toward Seattle today, after assuring Washington voters a Landon-Knox administration would grant federal funds for the Grand Coulee project if it is of national value.

Col. Knox left behind at Spokane the first expression from a major Republican candidate on the gigantic $395,000,000 reclamation development, now federally financed.

"I have been told it is politically wise to tell you that this great project, having reached its present stage, should be completed," he said. "I do not have the technical knowledge necessary to reach this conclusion."

"If Grand Coulee will be of such value to the nation that federal funds should be further granted, they will be granted under a Republican administration. The same tests apply here as in all other regions."

The Roosevelt administration financed construction of the initial unit, a foundation dam across the surging Columbia river 92 miles west of Spokane, with an allocated $63,000,000 of PWA funds.

NAVY TO ORGANIZE EUROPEAN FLEET

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16.—The navy announced today the creation of a temporary European squadron under the command of Rear Admiral Arthur P. Fairfield.

The squadron will consist of the light cruiser Raleigh, which will be Admiral Fairfield's flagship, the destroyers Hatfield and Kane and the coast guard cutter Cayuga.

The last three named have been on emergency duty in and outside of Spanish waters since the Spanish revolution broke out.

DEMAND FOR CORN CUTTERS IS ACUTE

By The Associated Press. COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 16.—C. E. Woolley, manager of the Ohio state employment service, said today an average of 25 farm lands were being placed in jobs each week but that he was having difficulty in meeting the demand for corn cutters, jobs remaining unfilled for two and three days.

VERDICT AWAITED IN MANSFIELD DEATH

By The Associated Press. MANSFIELD, Sept. 16.—Pending an autopsy, Coroner Hugh C. Winkler withheld a verdict today in the fatal shooting of Ray J. Bell, 66, unemployed steam shovel operator. Bell was found dead beside his car in a woods yesterday. A rifle lay near the body.

BRANN MAY SEEK RECOUNT IN MAINE

By The Associated Press. PORTLAND, Me., Sept. 16.—Likelihood of a recount of the vote for U. S. senator displaced in post-election discussion today partisan disagreement of the portent of a Republican sweep in Maine.

Gov. Louis J. Brann, Democrat, appeared later by $200 votes to U. S. Sen. Wallace H. White Jr., Republican, was in New York to confer with James A. Farley, Democratic national chairman.

The Democratic state chairman, Fred H. Lancaster, said he "wouldn't be surprised" if a recount were asked.

Farley said in New York Brann's margin was "so small" that a recount "might" be necessary.

Business Pickup Cause of More Going to College

Small and Large Schools Point to Better Times as Enrollment Gains.

By The Associated Press. COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 16.—Ohio colleges and universities, warning up for the 1938-39 school year, reported substantial increases in enrollment today, with officials in many institutions crediting improved business conditions.

Registrars in all parts of the state, commenting on increases of from 11 to nearly 600 registrations over 1935 fall quarter figures, chorused:

"Things are picking up."

Discussing a rise from 1,387 to 1,450 in expected enrollment at the University of Akron, R. H. Schmidt said:

"The improvement in the employment situation in Akron has enabled many of those who graduated from high school in the past few years to attend this year."

Miss Edith Cockins of Ohio State university, one of the largest educational institutions in the country, reported a jump from 11,417 to 12,500, topping increases of 1,200 in 1934 and 1,000 in 1935, and said:

"More young people can afford to come this year."

Rev. George Rennecker of the University of Dayton, where full-time enrollment was expected to rise from 320 to 330, commented:

"The increase in the boarding or resident students—those coming largely from small towns. More students are going away to school. There seems to be more money."

"Generally improved economic conditions," said Miss Myrtle Deming of Findlay college, accounting for an increase from 210 to 250.

At Mount Union college, with an increase from 550 to 600, Verna Lower said:

"We will have more students living on the campus who are able to meet their expenses than we have had for a number of years. Dormitories are filled and we are turning away girls for lack of dormitory accommodations."

F. B. Dille of Ohio university, reporting an increase from 2,510 to 2,630, said: "We anticipate the largest enrollment in the history of Ohio university."

"Improved business conditions," said Allen C. Conger of Ohio Wesleyan university, recording a jump from 1,384 to 1,450.

At Wilmington college, Miss Margaret Mitchell accounted for an increase from 350 to 375 with: "We expect a larger enrollment, due to better conditions among the agricultural population of this section. A large percentage of our students come from rural districts."

Other registrars credited the national youth administration program for part of their increases, while E. J. Hirschhorn of Bluffton college, reporting an increase from 233 to 250, found "a general increase in college minded high school graduates and the ability to give them part-time employment."

FOUR MEET DEATH AT CROSSING IN OHIO

Blakeslee Residents Struck by Passenger Train on Way from Tomato Field.

By The Associated Press. BRYAN, O., Sept. 16.—Railroad officials and county authorities investigated today the deaths of four young Blakeslee residents killed by a passenger train while returning to their homes after picking tomatoes on a farm near Bryan.

The dead were Leroy Kelle, 15, and his sister, Evelyn, 15, children of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kelle; Regina Blomeke, 15, daughter of Mrs. Isabelle Blomeke; and Leo Hug, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Hug.

The train crushed the automobile in which the four were riding in short distance from their homes. They were dead when residents of Blakeslee and trainmen reached them.

At the Simon Hauser farm, where the quartet had been picking tomatoes, members of the Hauser family said Leroy Kelle was driving the automobile when the trip to Blakeslee was started. Blakeslee is about 10 miles from Bryan.

News of the tragedy was delayed for several hours because of a breakdown in the telephone system between Blakeslee and other communities.

DIVORCE SOUGHT IN BOY 'KIDNAPING'

By The Associated Press. URBANA, O., Sept. 16.—Mrs. Glenna Stephens of Mechanicsburg asked a divorce in common pleas court today from her husband, Harvey Stephens of Hamilton, and demanded legal custody of their 12-year-old son, Jack, who, she asserted, was "kidnaped" by her husband last Friday.

Mrs. Stephens and a deputy sheriff located the boy in his father's home a day after he was driven away in an automobile while walking to school, and returned him here. Stephens will be arraigned Saturday on an assault and battery charge filed by his wife following the "abduction."

BUTCHER KNIFE NEW CLUE TO SLAYINGS

Police Told Meat Cutter or Hunter, Rather Than Surgeon, Committed Crimes.

By The Associated Press. CLEVELAND, Sept. 16.—Detectives examined the blood-spattered, nine-inch blade of a butcher knife today for a clue in the search for the mad Kingsbury run slayer whose wounds may number six.

A 17-year-old boy gave police the knife late last night after a conference of police and public officials was told that a butcher or a hunter, rather than a surgeon, probably was the maniac who decapitated one woman and five men over a year ago.

The boy said he found the knife Saturday under a parked car on the southeast side—a mile or two from the desolate stream where the decapitated body of an unidentified man, dead about 48 hours, was discovered two days before.

Police turned the instrument over to the chemical department of the police department's ballistics laboratory for analysis of the blood and possible finger prints.

Dr. Reuben K. Struss, county pathologist, cited a similar series of killings in London and said although the decapitations showed considerable knowledge of anatomy, the nature of the cuts indicated not a surgeon but rather a person used to a very heavy knife.

Police believe the slayings are the work of the same person.

"We are no further along than we were after the first body was discovered," Detective Sgt. James Hogan, head of the police homicide squad, told the conference.

MANSFIELD HORSE BREEDERS ORGANIZE

Frank Cave, Former House Speaker, Heads New Corporation.

By The Associated Press. COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 16.—The Ohio Thoroughbred Breeders association of Mansfield filed with the secretary of state today articles of incorporation as a non-profit organization.

Frank Cave of Mansfield, former speaker of the Ohio house of representatives, said the purpose of the organization was to arrange closer cooperation in Ohio and the country at large in the breeding of race horses of all types.

Other incorporators with Cave were George A. Burke of Cleveland, a vice president of the Standard Oil Co., L. J. Collins of Lancaster, a former member of the state racing commission; and W. J. Mulvihill of Cincinnati, a vice president of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad.

SHORTAGE OF ROOMS DEVELOPS AT O. S. U.

A report of a room shortage at Ohio State university was received today from the university news bureau, along with the names of three young people from Marion and vicinity who have recently enrolled as freshmen.

New enrollments in the record-breaking freshman class include Donald Eggleston of 801 Oak Grove avenue in the college of agriculture, Harold White of LaRue in the college of education, and James Schlegel of Marysville, in the college of engineering.

All girls dormitories have been filled for more than two weeks and rooms in private homes are becoming scarce, university officials reported. A similar shortage also prevails in accommodations for boys. The autumn quarter opens Tuesday, Sept. 20.

PROSPECT CLASS MEETS

Seventeen members of the Allegre class of the Prospect Baptist church met last evening with Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Johnson of Green Camp. Mrs. Johnson conducted devotions and gave a talk on friendship. WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Ready to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not doing its duty, your food doesn't digest. It just sits in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel more and more tired.

Laxatives are only cathartics. A cathartic doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up."

Remember, when you are in making bile flow freely, you get Carter's Little Liver Pills. They are the only reliable cathartics.

Dry Skin Hair
To have lovely soft skin and glossy hair is a much appreciated blessing. Yet dryness of the skin and hair is a common complaint. It is often associated with dryness and brittleness of the nails.

Don't trust

It is this affliction the skin is dry and scaly and the hair falls out. The nails are brittle and the skin around the nails is dry and cracked. The sufferer from this disease may look as if he had gained weight but that appearance is deceptive.

The Pyrenees.

Whatever hope of peace through busy politicians has permitted to live as they meddle in Spain, has its most inspiring symbol in the very bulk of the Pyrenees mountains.

Spain has been torn and caused by those rocky peaks and narrow passes. They have insulated the country against both good and evil.

In the current momentous fight over political theory on the Iberian peninsula, the Pyrenees are a formidable barrier which may prevent the repercussions of the explosion from reaching Europe. It will be possible that the bloody events of the Spanish civil war may be confined within the peninsula.

If, as is possible, Spain follows in Russia's footsteps toward aggressive communism, the Pyrenees will be a national barrier to the spread of the doctrine into central Europe. Or, if it is the fascists who are destined to win the struggle, they, too, would be confronted with a wall of stone in their eagerness to gain converts to the north.

There is scant comfort to peace lovers in such speculation. After all, the Pyrenees have not prevented the governments of Europe from meddling in Spain. They have not hindered greatly the apparent desire of fascists and communists to make Spain a battleground. Whether or not in an ultimate crisis the mountains still would constitute a symbol of Spanish isolation is problematic. On such shabby premises have the hopes of the peaceful come to rest—premises only slightly more solid than the paper structure whose wreckage now flutters on the ground at Geneva.

How Did They Do It?

A new mystery—comparable to the riddle of how Great Britain regained prosperity without submitting to governmental paternalism—presents itself in the news that Australia has its highest "defense" fund in history and yet reports a surplus.

Along with the surplus report come the glad tidings that income and sales taxes would be reduced, that a special levy on property income would be abolished and that other nuisances imposed would be cut or eliminated. Moreover, most of the large defense appropriation will be made from the handsome surplus holding over from last year.

Since it is true, apparently, that Australia is taking seven league strides toward recovery, that factory employment and savings bank deposits have soared, probably the Anzac riddle is a second cousin to the British puzzle. How did prosperity come to the Antipodes so that money could be lavished on armaments and yet leave a balance in the cash box?

In this age of vidding commissions, clearly here is some work for a fact-finding committee to do. But would the results be published if reports showed that the sum of prosperity had come to shine in Great Britain and Australia without aid of government magic?

Comparison.

It is next to impossible these days to pick up a newspaper or to turn the dial on a radio without discovering that a man by the name of Frank Knox either has just arrived in or departed from a town somewhere east of the Pacific ocean and west of the Atlantic.

Entirely aside from Col. Knox's importance as the Republican vice presidential candidate, he is making a strong bid for attention as one of the greatest whirlwind campaigners of all time. His schedule calls for from three to seven speeches a day. By Nov. 4, if he can stand his own killing pace, he will be one of the most widely traveled men of his generation. He will have seen America first, as all good patriots should.

There is, of course, an inviting comparison. Casual inquiry brings the casual information that the colonel's opponent is campaigning in his usual manner. Mr. Garner discovered early in the campaign of 1932 that he didn't have what the Roosevelt Democrats wanted, and he has been a silent partner ever since. Even his acceptance speech at Philadelphia was little more than a spoken promise not to say anything which might be hurtful to the new deal cause.

It's easy to get interested in the idea that if vice presidents of the United States were to take more of the responsibility of administration off the shoulders of presidents both jobs could be performed better. If energy means anything, Frank Knox never would let himself spend much time sitting down if he had the good luck to fall heir to the vice presidential shoes after Nov. 2.

Why Be Disappointed?

It is puzzling to hear in a campaign against the election of a Republican Governor Landon's speaking of the "free America."

The country was indeed free before Gov. Landon was elected and it was free before the Republican party last June. It was free before the election.

The government has not done much in several times that it has done in the past. A man who has been in the government for so long, it is not surprising that he should have a good deal to say about the government.

It was pointed out, furthermore, that although Gov. Landon's speeches might not claim to be a new deal, they would stand on their own merits. They would stand on their own merits in view of the fact that President Roosevelt's speeches are not only different in content but also in style.

Gov. Landon has turned out to be a presidential campaigner with definite, clear principles and not very much ability to express them on the stump. His speeches read well, but they do not listen well. His statements make sense, but they don't hit listeners out of their seats.

Perhaps if Gov. Landon would preface his future speeches with an admission that he knows he is not an orator, there might be no further excuse for disappointment with a campaigner which, though far from the outset of the campaign, has proved more disturbing to some of his followers than they thought it was going to be.

Jose Owens and The A. A. U.

One or two things—certainly no more than that—can be said positively about the case of Jose Owens.

First, the Negro athlete's affair with the A. A. U. has become so complicated no one can expect to know what the outcome will be. Owens, after considering a professional career to capitalize on his outstanding accomplishment in the Olympic games, has decided to retain his amateur standing. Unfortunately, under the rules of the A. A. U., he carries the label of professionalism merely because he publicly considered selling his services outright for cash.

Eventually, the whole discouraging and perplexing tangle may be straightened out. In the meantime the A. A. U. is on the spot. Another clear point is that the A. A. U. does not find much favor in public opinion these days. In the Owens affair it was cast as the villain. In their eagerness to ratify the organization's officials and at the same time to express sympathy for the personable young Negro who had incurred its displeasure, critics said harsher things than probably were proper under the circumstances as they now appear.

The A. A. U., which has seemed on many occasions to make a specialty of hair splitting, plainly is in need of doing something to free itself of the stigma of unreasonableness in its dealings with American amateur athletes.

Once A Truffle Eater—

Unless the right kind of dogs or hogs can be found and trained, the country faces a truffle shortage. Not, it must be added, that department of agriculture experts did not plant truffles or that the drought has blasted the truffle growth. The trouble is that the cunning little rascols grow underground.

If readers are puzzled by all this truffling they should be relieved by a sophisticated's observation that anyone who's "read anything" knows what truffles are. Since most of us, at that rate, haven't "read anything," it must be explained that a truffle is a fungus growth of the mushroom family, highly esteemed as a table delicacy but native to France.

To satisfy the great American hunger for truffles, the department of agriculture pinned some a while ago; but now that it is time for the fungi to have reached an adult size they can't be seen because of that underground growing habit of theirs. In France, dogs and hogs are trained to smell out the bashful truffle. Fles also are good truffle hunters but no one has bothered to train them.

How to find the truffles that are yearning to see daylight and tickle the epicure's taste? That is the great American agricultural problem, for, as one expert has said, "Once a truffle eater, always one."

Matters of Opinion.

If the first oratorical shellbursts of the Ohio campaign are any indication, speakers in the national campaign are going to have trouble finding any clean places left at which to throw their mud when finally they settle down to serious business.

There were some very presentable girls in the Atlantic City bathing beauty contest this year. Note: Lettuce, lamb chops and tomato juice must be yielding in popularity these days to mashed potatoes, pork chops and milk. Or did the photographs just make the girls seem to be plumper?

Politicians, merchants and men of affairs get to the top while they are alive. Artists get there half a century after death. Ossip Gabrilowitch, composer, pianist, conductor and connoisseur of the arts, who died Monday, will reach his full stature about 1966 when the names of most of the prominent contemporaries in public life have been forgotten.

Dark Merrill, pilot, and Harry Richman, entertainer, have completed a round trip to England in an airplane, thereby proving that the only way to make big headlines any more with a transatlantic flight in either direction is to get lost or killed outright.

Get - Out - the - Vote
Move Effective

Evidence Seen in Large Poll in Maine; Demonstration for "Free America."

Today's dispatch covers some aspects of the voting places in Maine, the fifth state to be visited by David Lawrence in his tour of 14 of the 15 states. Tomorrow's dispatch will analyze the complete returns in Maine.

By DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright, 1936, by The Marion Star

HANNOY, Me., Sept. 16.—An old woman, 90 years of age, looked into the voting booth, assisted by her daughter. To her vote, a straight Republican ticket and didn't care what would happen to the young boys.

And in a Democratic district I talked with one of the new deal workers who said he was getting people out to vote who hadn't been seen on the streets of the city in months.

This get-out-the-vote movement is well under way. It showed itself in an increased vote in the Maine election in both parties. I visited several of the voting places in and around Bangor. The balloting was orderly and accomplished with matter-of-fact smoothness. The presence of women makes a difference in these polling places. They furnish the respectability and fairness and sobriety that wasn't always present years ago in the cities large and small.

I couldn't help thinking, as I watched voter after voter enter the polling booth, what a thrill of satisfaction it must be to have a vote in the affairs of one's country. The writer, unfortunately, has no vote, being a resident of the District of Columbia, which for many years has been disenfranchised by congress.

Over in Europe, where the voting in certain countries is done under coercion and where there is no free press, there can be no such thrill today as the voter can experience in free America.

The question of whether America shall remain free happens to be an issue in this campaign among those people who think a change in the form of government will follow a new deal victory. But so far as Maine is concerned, I could find little evidence of this fear as yet, unless it was manifest in the intense way in which the Republicans worked throughout the state to make a showing for the nation.

With all due deference to the opinions held outside of Maine by political experts, political leaders and candidates, the people here didn't realize there was a new deal or anti-new deal slant in their September election till Governor Landon came left.

Had the Maine voters been left to their own devices without all the hubbub about the theory that "as Maine goes, so goes the nation," they would have split their tickets more than they did. This is because Governor Brann, Democratic nominee for the United States senate, is personally popular and there are thousands of Republicans who voted for Mr. Brann in Monday's election who will vote for Governor Landon in November.

Conversely, the vote for Senator White, Republican nominee, is the minimum Landon vote, in which must be added many of the Brann votes. Some indication of this situation was given by Mr. Brann himself, for he evaded the new deal issue and tried to capture Republican votes by letting it be known informally that he was not fundamentally in sympathy with the new deal.

So a vote for Brann was not a vote for Mr. Roosevelt, though a vote for White was undoubtedly a vote for Landon. This impression is confirmed in different parts of the state.

Why then did Governor Landon rush to Maine at the last moment? Well, if the truth be told, some of the Republicans in this section thought it was a mistake. They figured he could not, at a late date in the campaign, change votes, and yet he ran a risk in going into the state because Governor Brann is personally popular.

This is but another way of saying that the Republicans hereabouts were prepared for a close race between Brann and White, even though they felt sure of their ability to sweep the state for governor this week and for Mr. Landon in November.

Undoubtedly, the Landon strategists reasoned that Mr. Landon's visit to Maine might clarify the issue in so far as the new deal is concerned and persuade Republicans who had intended to vote for Mr. Brann to switch to Mr. White.

It was to drive Republican votes away from Brann in the hope of winning the majority that the Republicans high command evidently decided to take the chance. For they doubtless believed that, if the margin in the senatorial race were narrow, it would be misconstrued as a sign of Republican weakness nationally, irrespective of the vote given the Republican nominee for governor.

Glancing Backward

TEN YEARS AGO.
It was Thursday, Sept. 16, 1926.

Six indictments were returned by the Marion county grand jury, including one against a Marion county contractor accused of fraud in connection with public works. A murder charge against a Marion man accused of an "eternal triangle" slaying of a soldier in his home was ignored.

Devastating floods, declared to be the most serious since Civil war days, spread over 10 midwestern states, causing damage already estimated at $15,000,000.

Twenty years ago.
It was Saturday, Sept. 16, 1916.

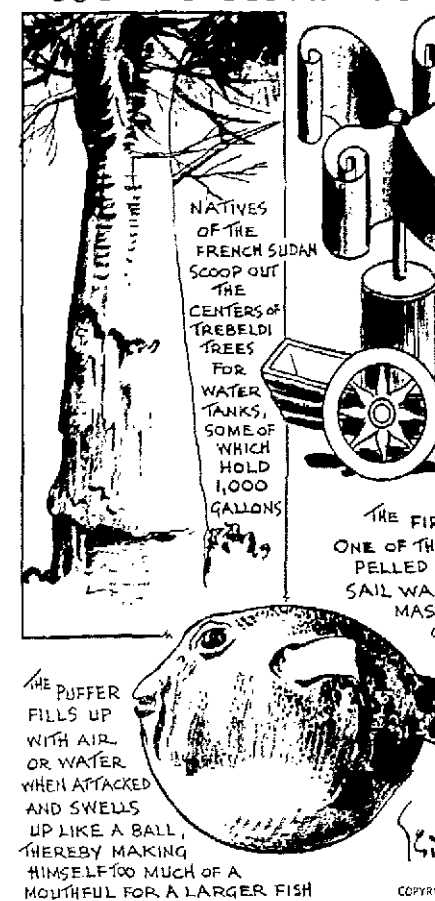

British military authorities were declaring this to be the best day for British arms since the start of the Allies' offensive. The British forces were reported making substantial gains all along the western front.

Miss Julia Stone and Walter Alexander, both of Lisle, were united in marriage by Rev. J. A. Sutton at his home in Lisle.

Rev. D. C. Hollister, pastor of United Brethren church here, was selected for the ninth time as statistical secretary of the standing conference in the annual session at Shelby.

J. Frank Stalworth, 30, former resident of Richmond who had recently moved to Marion, died in Jane Case hospital in Delaware, following an operation.

Behind the News

Men and Affairs Under The Washington Spotlight.

BY PAUL MALLON
WASHINGTON, Sept. 16.—When Hitler prodded the Reds with a bayonet at Nuremberg, the average conclusion here was that he had suddenly gone crazy.

This was not the conclusion in speechless official quarters. There, it was gravely realized again that Herr Hitler was being crazy like a fox.

The Moscow newspapers had the right dope, or part of it, as it reached those who know most about such matters here.

Hitler wants Czechoslovakia. He wants it by peaceful penetration. A constitutional reorganization of the government with a federal Fascist state, would suit him, and he intends to get it.

He cannot carry forward his plan with the Reds militantly resisting him, especially through their ally, France. He must frighten Moscow into quiescence. He must move while France is too troubled with Spain to worry much about Russia. So he did.

Frankly, our best judges thought it was a clever, dangerous gambit, and probably would work.

In the forefront of Hitler's scheming mind likewise is the Anglo-French revival of talk about renewing the Locarno agreement, which attempted to preserve the European status quo. The French and English will not be thinking or talking seriously about Locarno amid the current brandishing of arms.

Concern
The Reds can stop Hitler only one way—by fighting. The knowledge of that fact at the top here has caused extreme, although silent, concern.

Most authorities felt the situation was more dangerous than when the British moved their fleet into the Mediterranean during the Ethiopian war.

Military men doubted it. The Reds are in no position to fight. Behind them, menacingly, are the Japanese, waiting for just such a Soviet distraction so they can move more easily in their far eastern conquest.

Furthermore, Hitler is not ready. If he were, he would not have to be making public announcements to that effect. The best guess is that one more year of preparation at least will be necessary to develop his potential fighting strength.

The betting, therefore, runs hesitantly but preponderantly against the possibility of an outbreak.

Self-Interest
The crattiest wrinkle in the Hitler diplomatic skein folds over the French.

The Russians have an agreement with the French whereby France will go to the assistance of the Reds "if attacked." The alliance does not hold good if the Reds attack.

New York Notes

O. C. McIntyre's Diary of Fact, Fancy and Folks.

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—Owners of estates in Westchester, Connecticut, Jersey and Long Island have grown like conscious. An inland summer home without a lake is as declass as a Hollywood hacienda without a scrumptious swimming pool. The craze started early this season in the Ridgefield section.

In a few weeks several hundred workmen were dredging a score or more estates. And the idea began to spread like fire in dry grass. Mostly the lakes are for the children to swim in and sail toy boats but some have grown to the proportions of acres.

A fair-sized lake, I am told, costs around $1,500 but there are a dozen in the hoity toity Greenwich area that represent an outlay of $12,000 each. With the fed has grown a group of experts. In Radio City there is an expansive office (tagged: "Artificial Lake Consultants").

The experts can blue print a lake and get it in first class shape in a few weeks time. Real estate men say the innovation has made a larger number of lakeless residences unrentable. And they turn the remark with a shrug, that lakes draw mosquitos and other winged pests.

Roxy's name seems destined for endurance, even though largely forgotten along the highway he has glamour. In the area of the Roxy theater alone are 20 places—shoe shine and lunch stands, gown shops and the like—that bear the name Roxy. In Brooklyn, Bronx and Harlem are similar Roxy establishments. And there's scarcely a city of size that hasn't a Roxy this or that. Incidentally, the name was a pet term of the showman's wife.

On West 44th street the other day I passed Smith and Dale, the hilly burly comedians. They were the originators and members of the old Avon Comedy Four, that vaudeville quartette that used to stir many a riotous applause. They came up from the sidewalk ruff-cut to be partners—mentally and professionally—through life. And I understand that, through selling their savings in cash through the years, they are not only prosperous but have weathered every depression. Many would like to see them revive that old quartette. Something went out of American life when the quartette went the way of the pug dog. Ring Lardner was the last defender. And he, too, rest his fine soul, has joined the heavenly choir.

Higher Education
The announced departure of those hundreds of workers from Dr. Tugwell's rural resettlement administration was only a continuance of the pruning begun voluntarily months ago.

The reason is hard to find but easy to understand. The doctor's own books will show it cost him between $6,000 and $7,000 a farm to do his resettling in three states of the middle west. If any outsider can ever get a peep at the figures.

The Word of God

ROAD TO TRUE RICHES. Seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you.—Matthew 6:33.

Mayor La Guardia is also one of the Sitters on One Leg. When the Mayor bounces into a room, his quick eye usually falls on a capacious chair and he makes for it in full bounce. Tucking one leg under his roly-poly bulk like a chicken tucking a head under wing, Most Sitters on One Leg are pugy. Such as Charles Laughton, Alexander Woolcott, Col. Joseph Hartfield and James M. Barry. Yet the custom has its addicts among the long legged. Lincoln liked to indulge this posture when relaxing for reading. And perhaps the most modern exponent is the toll and angling playwright, Robert E. Sherwood.

Robert Sherwood, by the way, is the envy of almost every man who saps a typewriter for a living. He has become the old squire of Tory Hall—an easy going gentleman of a lush English countryside, a short spin from London. He has a regimentation of trained servants and even bell pulls to summon them like they have in the sets of English plays. He writes when the mood seizes him. There is no special hurry for his royalties from past successes continue to come in with pleasant regularity. Sherwood is one of the native New Yorkers who knocked about on Park Row, edited Life awhile and decided he would write a play. It was a hit and he continued to write mostly hits—more indeed than anyone of his time. He borders on seven feet in height.

Today—Pacific Coast

Might Think of Protection.

The Pacific states are not at themselves in a way apart from the national movement.

When a committee from New York came to a money Lincoln, told him that he had, and would send a good bayonet to nothing but protect New City. His reply was that as much money as they had, he would build a bayonet for himself.

The west coast states, Oregon, Washington, and perhaps with their neighbors of Vancouver and points above the Canadian might well have a few of their own, a sort of San Francisco, where they hire patriotism with money, and great civic energy, might well start a Pacific coast thing. That need not be very exact. A hundred plucky young practicing the gentle art of night, and dropping practicing especially against other flying men would constitute an adequate lesson to the rest of the country.

And if California, in any case, for instance, should a little flock of one hundred choices, Los Angeles could be upon to hurry in with two dreds, Seattle and other coast also.

Job for Adventurers
Such machines need not a total loss.

In the first place, many gentlemen with rich fathers knowing exactly what to do themselves, extremely anxious find work worthwhile, and possibly dangerous, would each equipping his individual chine, for the service of the coast, and of Uncle Sam, as nobles in the old days delight equipping each regiment, or fighting ship, for the service of King.

Two hundred or three hundred high-powered, swift-flying chins, directed by quick and ingenious American brains, would more to the safety of Pacific coast than a hundred teships. For the fighters come, with fly miles above the teships.

They would come less safely confidently, if they knew trained fliers awaited them.

A Good Example
Hideo Noguchi, who put life to fight yellow fever in Al will inspire many men. He born of a proud, warlike intensely self-centered, for years a hermit people. The of a Japanese was to family above all in the Emperor's sending his race. The rest of world was nothing to him.

Born one generation after he opened her doors to the w Noguchi fell the new spirit of times. He was loyal to his clan, Emperor, race; but he devoted chiefly to all human kind. From boyhood to the through poverty and many he studied how to wipe out ease. He discovered the yellow fever, developed serum prevent the fever or cure it in the work that has drawn it of America and will come end to it throughout the world.

Yellow fever killed millions of all peoples. Now skill and devotion have saved lives of millions too many to count, most of them foreigners whom his forefathers would have paid no attention, calling them min, or no-folks.

Noguchi's self-sacrifice in man welfare sets an example is sure to be followed. For in time, most men will see it is better to help one who than to kill or even rob another.

It Sold for $700
It is said the Hackstack diamonds sold to the white man so many bars of lead and finery, worth altogether $700 on which now stands the city of Newark, N. J., and a deal of land beyond.

The poor Hackstack cost his $700, couldn't buy today land for a right grave at the of Broad and Market streets Newark. Land goes up very fully.

And don't forget that are just as good bargains in real estate and in the as the bargain the when they bought Newark the Indians. Empty lots, cities, intersections, lanes will some day be scrapers, but you must and where to choose, somebody else's judgment yours. If you haven't a buy.

Harding Grid Season To Open At Delaware Saturday

TEAM MEMBERS HOLD DAILY WORKOUTS AS 1936 SCHEDULE NEARS

Other High School Teams in District To Begin Play This Week End

Harding High school football team is practicing daily in preparation for its trek to Delaware Saturday afternoon for the opening game of the 1936 schedule. The team will arrive in the middle of a heavy program with Mt. Carmel High in the morning, followed by a North Central Ohio league game booked at Mansfield Oct. 3.

Light and aggressive is the brief picture of the Red and Black warriors as painted by Coach Carl (Clem) in the possibilities of his players. Loss by graduation leaves a squad which includes only two players who saw action on the varsity last year.

Although inexperienced, the boys have shown an unusual amount of interest and spirit, and regardless of final results fans may expect to see a scrappy eleven take the field this season, he added.

32 Candidates Practicing

This week's practice is being centered around defensive drill and scrimmage work with the 32 candidates for the starting line-up going through their paces daily.

Forrest Shaver, captain of the team and Bud Harper are the two veteran members of the club. Shaver probably will fill the position of left end while Harper is considered an excellent choice for the opposite end of the line. Charlie

Daily Pattern for Home Use

BY ANNE ADAMS

LET THIS "SMOOTH" SLIP AND PANTIE SET ASSURE A SMOOTH FOUNDATION. In fashion news, indeed, when a woman slip and smooth-fitting pants come together in one, ease-of-care pattern! Trust fashion's Anne Adams to know that in trim, well-tailored "undies" the chic woman's "foundation" is how the built-up shoulders of the slip give you straps that stay smoothly in place! So easily made, the set, you'll surely want to knit up two or three versions. Best in tubable crepe, synthetic, or rayon.

Pattern 4175 is available in sizes 15, 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42. Size 16 takes 3 1/2 yards 39-inch rayon. Illustrated step-by-step sewing instructions included. Sent fifteen cents (15c) in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for the Anne Adams pattern. Write fully name, address and style number.
